OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The US Fed raised its benchmark overnight interest rate by 50 basis points to fight inflation, the biggest rate hike in more than two decades. Fed Chair Powell reiterated their commitment to lowering inflation but has noted that a 75 basis point hike is unlikely to happen. However, the minutes of the recent FOMC meeting showed that officials are prepared to proceed with multiple 50 basis points interest rate increases to contain inflation. Meanwhile, the Fed also said it would start reducing asset holdings on its $9 trillion balance sheet starting June 1. In April, inflation in the U.S. remained elevated at 8.3%, slightly lower than the 8.5% recorded in March. Month-on-month, 10-year U.S. Treasury yield fell by about 9 basis points to 2.85% as of May 31.

Fund Performance. The Fund returned 0.12% for the month, underperforming its benchmark by 4 basis points. Year-to-date, return amounted to -1.36%, underperforming its benchmark by 198 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The fund will maintain its current underweight position, in terms of duration. Investors in the bond fund must be prepared to withstand short-term volatility as higher investment value is normally achieved over the medium- to long-term.
