OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. US inflation decelerated in July by more than expected, coming in at 8.5% from the 9.1% recorded in June. The lower inflation figure recorded in July reflects to easing energy, which now may take some pressure off the Federal Reserve to continue aggressively hiking interest rates. However, before the month ended, Fed Chair Powell said during the Jackson Hole Economic Symposium that the central bank will continue raising interest rates to stop inflation, dashing hopes that the Fed might pivot to more subdued rate hikes after recent data suggested price pressures were peaking. Month-on-month, the 10-year US Treasury rose by about 55 basis points to 3.20% on August 31.

Fund Performance. The Fund returned 0.06% for the month, underperforming its benchmark by 25 basis points. Year-to-date, return amounted to -1.48%, underperforming its benchmark by 286 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The fund will maintain its current underweight position, in terms of duration. Investors in the bond fund must be prepared to withstand short-term volatility as higher investment value is normally achieved over the medium- to long-term.
