OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The BPI Government Bond Index returned 0.21% in January, with benchmark government yields rising 1 basis point (bp) on average. The yield curve pivoted steeper, with benchmark yields on the short end of the curve declining as longer-term benchmark yields rose. Average daily trading volume rose to PHP39.2bn, from December's PHP26.4bn, with the 4.6-year RTB5-13 and 4.7-year FXTN10-60 securities seeing the highest trading volumes over the month.

The Bureau of the Treasury (BTr) held two FXTN auctions in January, with PHP30bn on offer for each. The first was a reissuance of the 4.7-year security FXTN10-60 (first issued in September 2015); the second was a reissuance of the 6.3-year security FXTN10-61 (first issued in May 2017). Both reissuances saw strong demand and were fully awarded; FXTN10-60 saw total bids of PHP98.7bn and was awarded at an average yield of 2.536%, 36 bps lower than the average yield at which it was awarded in its previous reissuance in November 2020. Meanwhile, FXTN10-61 saw bids totaling PHP82.6bn, and was awarded at an average yield of 2.719%, 7 bps lower than its average yield when it was last reissued in December 2020.

In the local economic space, December inflation came in at 3.5% year-on-year, above expectations of 3.2% and bringing full-year 2020 average inflation to 2.6%. The Philippine full-year GDP figure also disappointed, with fourth-quarter year-on-year growth at -8.3%, bringing the full-year 2020 growth figure to an all-time low of -9.5%. Weak demand and capital formation were the main causes of the decline, as pandemic-related mobility constraints impeded spending and lowered demand expectations, causing companies to cut capital expenditures. The negative growth and high inflation figures, together with doubts about local vaccine acquisition and distribution capability, impaired local risk sentiment, driving investors into safer assets and pushing risk asset prices lower. With its policy rate at record lows and with the possibility of transitorily higher inflation, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) is expected to remain accommodative but maintain current policy. In statements made throughout the month, BSP Governor Benjamin Diokno continued to emphasize the bank's focus on supporting growth using the full range of policy tools at its disposal.

Fund Performance. The Fund returned 0.34% for the month, outperforming its benchmark by 11 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The Fund looks to maintain a neutral duration position given expectations of accelerating local inflation amid recovering oil prices and dwindling base effects. Volatility may persist in the global space, and the portfolio will be actively managed to take advantage of this. Investors in a bond fund must be prepared to withstand volatility as higher investment value is typically achieved over the medium to long term.
