¹Returns are net of fees. The Fund was converted to the U.S. Dollar Short Term Fund last June 1, 2015. ²Measures the degree to which the Fund fluctuates vis-à-vis its average return over a period of time. ³Used to characterize how well the return of a Fund compensates the investor for the level of risk taken. ⁴Measures reward-to-risk efficiency of the portfolio relative to the benchmark. The higher the number, the higher the reward per unit of risk. ⁶Includes accrued income, investment securities purchased, accrued expenses, etc. *Declaration of Trust is available upon request through branch of account.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines fell 2.11% in February as Philippine dollardenominated bond yields rose by an average of 33 basis points (bps) across the curve.

Global bond yields rose once more in February amid global reflation concerns as coronavirus (COVID19) vaccine rollouts heralded the potential reopening of economies. The first US Federal Reserve meeting of the year was mostly unremarkable as the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) opted to keep rates unchanged, and set aside talks of tapering their bond purchases (amounting to USD120bn monthly) for now. Nevertheless, they reiterated that bond purchase reductions would mostly likely be seen towards year-end as economic recovery slowly gains traction. Throughout the month, spotty recoveries in various sectors were seen, such as the unemployment rate falling to 6.3% (seasonally adjusted) as of January from 6.7% in December, and the Purchasing Managers' Index showing prospects of an improving economy at 58.7. Month-on-month, the 10-year US Treasury benchmark yield rose 33 basis points to close at the 1.40% level.

In the local economic space, January inflation came in at 4.2% year-on-year, above expectations of 3.5% and quickening from December's 3.5% figure. Food inflation due to supply chain and logistical issues and higher transportation costs due to rising oil prices were the main drivers of the headline figure's increase. Meanwhile, President Duterte rejected calls to loosen quarantine restrictions, citing his desire for more widespread vaccination before easing restrictions. With spiking inflation and slow economic growth continuing to dampen risk sentiment, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) kept policy rates steady in its February meeting but raised its full-year 2021 inflation forecast to 4% from its previous forecast of 3.2%. In statements made throughout the month, BSP Governor Benjamin Diokno stated that the spike in inflation was transitory and was being dealt with through non-monetary measures, and suggested that policy rates would remain at current levels until at least the end of the first half of the year.

Fund Performance. The Fund rose by 0.05% in February, ahead of its benchmark by 5 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The fund will maintain its duration of less than 1 and will continuously look into corporate bonds for yield enhancement.
