OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines returned -0.08% in November as Philippine dollar-denominated bonds fell behind the US Treasury gains.

US Treasury Yield curve bull flattened as the short end of the curve rose and long end of the curve fell. US economic data figures in October came out strong with headline Consumer Price Index (CPI) outpacing forecast at +6.2% year-on-year, its highest reading in 31 years. Moreover, US non-farm payrolls rose by 531,000, exceeding the consensus estimates of 450,000. Jay Powell was reappointed for another four-year term as the Federal Reserve (FED) Chair. The FED is expected to begin to taper its $120 billion asset purchase program on December, with purchases set to end by June 2022. Several FED officials have expressed their view on speeding up the pace of tapering but uncertainty around the Omicron variant could make it less likely in the near term. Finally, US President Joe Biden signed the $550 billion bipartisan infrastructure bill to fund the upgrade of roads, bridges, railways, and deploy electronic vehicle charging stations across the country. The 10-year US Treasury benchmark yield hit a high of 1.66% this month, and ended the month at 1.44% (down by 11 basis points MoM).

In the local economic space, October inflation further eased to 4.6% year-on-year, as the rise in food and transport prices slowed. The lower figure was a welcome development as there were speculations that inflation was not transitory, though some analysts continued to warn that this was just a blip and higher prices ought to be expected moving forward, given elevated global oil prices. Meanwhile, the country's GDP growth came in at +7.1% year-on-year, beating the consensus estimate of 4.8%. Growth was driven by the industrial service sectors, while the agricultural sector lagged due to bad weather and the African Swine Fever outbreaks. Though growth has proven robust in recent quarters, analysts believe there is room for the central bank to keep rates accommodative. Sure enough, during its Monetary Board meeting last November 18, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) kept its policy rate at a record low, citing the need for continued monetary support for the economy. It likewise cut its projected 2022 inflation forecast to 4.3% from 4.4% originally.

Fund Performance. The Fund rose by 0.02% in November, above its benchmark by 2 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The fund will maintain its duration of less than 1 and will continuously look into corporate bonds for yield enhancement.
