OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global equities declined in April as concerns over global economic growth, ongoing Ukraine-Russia conflict and earnings misses weighed on investor sentiment. US headline inflation posted in April its highest reading since 1981 at 8.5% year-on-year, driven by soaring energy, wheat and grain prices. The technology sector underperformed broad equity markets as the MSCI ACWI Information Technology Index returned - 11.7% in USD. Investors adapted a risk-off sentiment, driving growth-oriented technology companies with greater valuation multiples to underperform. Elevated energy prices from the ongoing Ukraine-Russia conflict added pressure on supply chains already facing delays and shortages, widening the gap between supply and demand. Twitter accepted Tesla CEO Elon Musk's offer to buy the company at approximately 38% premium over the company's share price, signaling the acquisition as the largest deal to take a company private in history.

Fund Performance. The fund returned -11.25% in April, outperforming the benchmark by 48 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The recent concerns over rising interest rates and inflation have put pressure on technology stocks in the short-term, but the technology sector continues to be underpinned by strong fundamentals and powerful, long-term secular growth drivers. The Fund will continue to focus on long-term secular themes, many of which are experiencing increased demand as enterprises push for modernization and digitalization. The fund will maintain its exposure to trends whose pace of adoption have accelerated due to social distance and migration to remote work, such as cloud computing, e-commerce and gaming, as many of these companies are likely to benefit from increased adoption from both enterprises and consumers.
