OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines rose by 2.06% in July as Philippine dollar-denominated bonds tracked movements of US Treasuries. ROP yields fell by an average of 46.1 basis points month-on-month.

The US Federal Reserve raised rates by 75 basis points during their Federal Open Market Committee held July. The Fed reiterated that it would continue to monitor economic conditions, and that it would do what was necessary to keep inflation in check. US headline CPI printed at 9.1% year-on-year in June, beating consensus estimates as price pressures in the housing and services sector continued to build. However, the Fed's overall hawkish stance sparked concerns from the market that growth may be challenged in the near term. All this caused heightened volatility in rates, with the 10-year US Treasury benchmark yield rising as high as 3.08%, before closing the month at the 2.65% level.

In the local economic space, June inflation rose by 6.1% year-on-year, the fastest pace since November 2018. This was on the back of rising food and fuel costs, as geopolitical tensions continue to keep oil prices elevated. Consequently, the BSP surprised markets, raising policy rates mid-month by 75 basis points to 3.25%. This was the largest single rate hike in history, and was also the first off-cycle move since the pandemic began in 2020. The central bank will continue to monitor economic data and adjust policy settings as needed.

Fund Performance. The Fund returned 1.03% for the month, below its benchmark by 157 basis points. In terms of YTD performance, the fund returned -8.77%, outperforming the benchmark by 67 bps.

Fund Strategy. The Fund looks to maintain a neutral duration position and opportunistically add exposure to corporate issuers to enhance yield. Global events remain likely to add volatility. Investors in a bond fund must be prepared to withstand volatility as higher investment value is typically achieved over the medium to long term.
