OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global equity markets declined in September. The Federal Reserve kept rates steady but remained hawkish in tone, keeping the possibility of another rate hike before yearend. The FOMC (Federal Open Market Committee) members also projected that rate cuts will be pushed back, with median end-2024 and end-2025 target rate projections being forecasted 50 bps higher compared to June projections. Sentiment weakened and risk assets sold off as interest rates rose and rate cut expectations have been pushed back, reinforcing the higher for longer narrative. In terms of business activity, the US economy barely remained in the expansionary territory, with its composite PMI barely unchanged from 50.2 to 50.1 month-on-month, driven by further contraction in the manufacturing sector. The MSCI All Country World Index returned -4.10% for the month, with developed markets, underperforming its emerging counterparts. Across other regional markets, Chinese and Hong Kong equities sold-off amid the region's challenged real estate sector and weaker than expected economic data.

Fund Performance. The fund returned -4.32%, outperforming the benchmark by 13 basis points. Security selection helped performance.

Fund Strategy. We continue to remain cautious in global equities due to the higher for longer interest rate environment and expectations of a global growth slowdown which will likely impact corporate earnings moving forward. Against this backdrop, we prefer to be in higher quality and larger capitalization stocks. In terms of regional allocation, the fund is constructive in US and Japan while remaining mindful of its valuations. In the long term, we like stocks with sustainable characteristics as the world transitions towards net zero carbon emission targets.
