OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global markets declined in September. The Federal Reserve kept rates steady but remained hawkish in tone, keeping the possibility of another rate hike before yearend. The FOMC (Federal Open Market Committee) members also projected that rate cuts will be pushed back, with median end-2024 and end-2025 target rate projections being forecasted 50 bps higher compared to June projections. Sentiment weakened and risk assets sold off as interest rates rose and rate cut expectations have been pushed back, reinforcing the higher for longer narrative. In terms of business activity, the US economy barely remained in the expansionary territory, with its composite PMI barely unchanged from 50.2 to 50.1 month-on-month, driven by further contraction in the manufacturing sector. The MSCI All Country World Index returned -4.10% for the month, with developed markets underperforming its emerging counterparts. Across other regional markets, Chinese and Hong Kong equities sold-off amid the region’s challenged real estate sector and weaker than expected economic data. Similarly, global fixed income markets also returned negative for the month. Most global central banks maintained their hawkish monetary policies as they continue to bring inflation back to target pushing global yields higher. The US Treasury yield curve shifted upward as the 2-year, 10-year and 30-year yields rose by 18, 46, and 49 basis points, ending the month at 5.05%, 4.57% and 4.70%. Riskier fixed income assets outperformed comparable government bonds as economic data continued to be resilient.

Fund Performance. The fund returned -3.10%, outperforming the benchmark by 49 basis points. Allocation in fixed income helped performance.

Fund Strategy. We expect major structural trends such as the increasing market share of electric vehicles sold, increased recycled content in clothing and packaging, and record installations of wind turbines and solar panels to continue. The ongoing Russia-Ukraine war has resulted in the world, particularly Europe, determined to reduce their reliance on traditional sources of energy such as oil and gas, requiring large investments in renewable energy in the coming years. In addition, we continue to see support for climate solutions and green technologies through government policies such as the Inflation Reduction Act signed by US President Joe Biden. We believe that strong ESG companies are likely to generate positive financial performance over time as investing in sustainability can deliver higher growth and returns through innovation, higher operational efficiency and better risk management.
