OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global equity markets rose in July. Market sentiment continued to improve on the back of resilient economic data and declining trend of inflation. The Federal Reserve and European Central Bank maintained their hawkish stance and hiked their interest rates by 25 basis points. Expectation for a soft landing in the US has garnered steam as inflation figures seemingly peaked, while the economy continues to be robust. US inflation eased more than market forecasts at an annual rate of 3% in June from 4.0% in May. In terms of growth, the US grew by 2.4% in the second quarter, above consensus estimates of 2.0%. Across regional markets, China has outperformed the broader global and emerging market equity indices as its government announced positive measures to boost its economy, including providing stimulus to improve consumption and support to its real estate sector. The MSCI ACWI Information Technology Index rose by 2.6%, slightly lagging broad equity markets. The internet and semiconductor sub-sectors led technology equity performance driven by the strength in digital advertising and companies related to the artificial intelligence (AI) supply chain, respectively.

Fund Performance. The fund returned 3.60% in July, outperforming the benchmark by 100 basis points. Stock selection helped performance.

Fund Strategy. Macroeconomic headwinds continue in 2023, leading enterprises to remain conservative with IT spending. We believe that concerns about interest rates and inflation have largely been priced into tech equities. However, there remains uncertainty regarding the severity and duration of a potential economic slowdown. Recent advancements in artificial intelligence have brought new momentum into the sector, negating the impact from macro weakness. While the initial beneficiaries were the mega-cap technology names building the infrastructure to train AI models, we see wide opportunities in the space aligned with the theme moving forward. While growth assets have been penalized due to rising rate concerns, the companies within the portfolio continue to be underpinned by compelling fundamentals and powerful long-term secular growth drivers. The secular growth trends driving technology are multi-year transformations that are expected to persist, regardless of the macroeconomic environment or geopolitical risk. The fund will continue to focus on these long-term secular themes such as artificial intelligence, cloud computing, electric vehicles, metaverse, space and quantum computing.
