The BPI Philippine Dollar Bond Index Fund is suitable only for investors who:

- Are at least classified as aggressive based on their risk profile
- Have an investment horizon of more than five (5) years

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Interest Rate Risk: The fund invests in a portfolio of Philippine Sovereign and corporate securities comprising the JP Morgan Asia Credit Philippines Total Return Index, exposing investors to the risk of loss arising from a rise in interest rates, which generally causes fixed income security prices to decline. Factors/ events that may lead to a rise interest rates include adverse market conditions, issuer-specific factors/ events and/ or negative developments in domestic and global political and economic conditions.

Liquidity Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the fund's inability to convert security holdings to cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a highly disadvantageous price due to limited buyers/ sellers in the market, low trading volumes or market disruptions, among other reasons/ factors.

Related Party Risk: Investors are exposed to actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of related party transactions by the Trustee, specifically, the execution of trade transactions with related counterparties.

Credit/Default Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the failure of the borrower/ debt issuer to make timely interest and/ or principal payments on its deposit liabilities, loans, bonds or other debt instruments due to a deterioration in the borrower's/ issuer's financial condition or external factors and events that may affect its ability to repay financial obligations such as negative developments in domestic and global political and economic conditions.

Index Tracking Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of not being able to achieve a level of return that matches the index being tracked by the fund due primarily to operating and fund management expenses.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) Philippines lost 0.12% in February as Philippine dollar-denominated bonds tracked movements in US Treasuries.

Global bonds experienced heightened volatility in February as policy rate cut expectations were tempered amidst higher-than-expected inflation, and strong jobs data. During the month, market participant pushed back their expected timing of the US Federal Reserve's first rate cut from May to June.

In January, US consumer price index (CPI) inflation rose by 3.1%, faster than the 2.9% median estimate. Moreover, the unemployment rate came at 3.7% with wage growth at 4.5% YoY, also higher than expectations. These macroeconomic data reinforce the Fed's decision to keep rates steady and the Fed officials' remarks that it is still too early for policy rate cuts. Consequently, the 10-year US Treasury benchmark yield surged from 3.91% to 4.25% for the month.

On the domestic front, inflation for January fell to 2.8% in January, below the 3.1% median estimate and the 3.9% recorded in December. While headline inflation slowed down with the help of further declines in vegetable prices, it must be noted that rice prices, which accounts for 9% of the consumption basket, went up by 23% year-on-year. Similar to the Fed's stance, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) kept policy rates steady with policymakers signalling the need to be vigilant against inflation pressures from costlier food because of El Niño and higher transport and electricity prices.

Fund Performance. The fund returned -0.46% in February, below its benchmark by 34 bps. Year-to-date, the fund returned -1.19%, underperforming the benchmark by 22 bps.

Fund Strategy. The Fund will continue to closely track the JPMorgan Asia Credit Total Return Index. Investors in a bond fund must be prepared to withstand volatility as higher investment value is typically achieved over the medium to long term.
