KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Market/Price Risk:	Investors are exposed to adverse changes in the prices of foreign currency denominated fixed income collective schemes (target funds), due to a rise in interest rates as a result of adverse market conditions, unfavorable developments in the political and economic conditions of countries where the underlying securities of the target funds are issued or traded, or other issuer-specific factors.
Liquidity Risk:	Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the inability of the target funds to convert security holdings to cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a highly disadvantageous price due to limited participants in the market, low trading volumes or market disruptions, among others.
Country Risk:	Investors are exposed to the risk of loss arising from negative developments in the political, economic and social conditions of the focus countries of the target fund which may adversely affect its value.
FX Risk:	Investors are exposed to the risk of loss from a decline in the fund value when the market value of foreign currency denominated target funds are translated to USD.

The Fund's investment outlets undergo proper screening and evaluation in accordance with the Trustee's accreditation process. The Fund may also use financial derivatives to hedge the portfolio against market and credit risks.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. In August, U.S. Treasury yields moved lower across most maturities, reflecting growing expectations of interest rate cuts by the Federal Reserve. The 2-year yield saw the largest decline, dropping 35 basis points from 3.94% to 3.59%. The 10-year yield also fell, moving from 4.37% to 4.23%. Interestingly, the 30-year yield bucked the trend, rising slightly by 3 basis points to 4.92%. These shifts were largely influenced by Fed Chair Jerome Powell's more dovish tone during his speech at the Jackson Hole symposium, which signaled a potential easing of monetary policy ahead. On the US economic front, the U.S. added 78,000 jobs in July, below market expectations of 100,000, suggesting a cooling labor market. Meanwhile, inflation held steady at 2.7%, unchanged from the previous month.

Globally, long-term government bond yields moved higher in August as investor demand weakened, largely due to rising concerns over high levels of sovereign debt and fiscal sustainability. This shift was evident across major markets, with 30-year German bund yields reaching 3.31%—their highest level since 2011. Similarly, 30-year UK Gilts rose to 5.6%, a level not seen since 1998, while 30-year French OATs climbed to 4.45%, marking a 14-year high.

In the Philippines, dollar-denominated bond yields fell across the curve, with shorter tenors seeing the most notable drop. The JP Morgan Asia Credit Index – Philippines delivered a monthly return of 1.33%, primarily driven by price appreciation.

Fund Performance. The fund returned 1.26% in August, underperforming the benchmark by 19 basis points. Security selection within the fund detracted from performance.

Fund Strategy. Developed market central banks, US in particular, are likely to keep rates high for longer and more volatility may be seen in long duration. Central bank officials remain data-driven emphasizing the uncertainty regarding the government policy and its effects on the economy. Given expectations of near-term volatility, we remain cautious on managing duration risk and remain selective in credit. The fund will continue to have a balanced allocation of safe fixed income assets (e.g. government bonds and high rated bonds) and riskier fixed income assets such as corporate and EM bonds for yield enhancement. In terms of corporate bonds, we continue to be selective on issuers with a preference for higher quality names in both investment grade and non-investment grade sectors.
