KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

Market/Price Risk: Investors are exposed to adverse changes in the prices of global equities in the health care sector due to adverse market conditions, unfavorable company earnings and valuations, and negative developments in the political and economic conditions of the focus countries of the securities of the target fund.

Liquidity Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss due to the target fund's inability to convert security holdings to cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a highly disadvantageous price due to limited participants in the market, low trading volumes, market disruptions, among others.

Country Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss arising from negative developments in the political, economic and social conditions of the focus countries of the underlying securities of the target fund, which may adversely affect the value of the feeder fund.

FX Risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of loss from a decline in the market value of the target fund when the market value of foreign currency denominated securities held by the target fund are translated to USD.

The Fund's investment outlets undergo proper screening and evaluation in accordance with the Trustee's accreditation process. The Fund may also use financial derivatives to hedge the portfolio against market and credit risks.

⁴ BENCHMARK INFORMATION

Name: MSCI World Health Care Index

Description and Key Characteristics: The MSCI World Health Care Index is designed to capture the large and mid cap segments across 23 Developed Markets (DM) countries*. All securities in the index are classified in the Health Care as per the Global Industry Classification Standard (GICS®).

The index is based on the MSCI Global Investable Market Indexes (GIMI) Methodology – a comprehensive and consistent approach to index construction that allows for meaningful global views and cross regional comparisons across all market capitalization size, sector and style segments and combinations. This methodology aims to provide exhaustive coverage of the relevant investment opportunity set with a strong emphasis on index liquidity, investability and replicability.

Relation to the Fund's Objective or Investment Strategy: The Fund operates as a Feeder Fund. The Target Fund is actively managed and will refer to MSCI World Health Care Index when constructing the portfolio and managing its risk to ensure that the Fund remains aligned with its investment objectives. When selecting investments, the Target Trustee has discretion and is not restricted to the components or weighting of the Index. The Target Fund may invest in securities not included in the Index to take advantage of investment opportunities, subject to the asset class, regional, industry, sector and/or strategy requirements of its investment objectives. Investors may use the Index to measure the performance of the Fund.

Information about the benchmark may be accessed through MSCI <https://www.msci.com/>. Alternatively, participants may request information from BPI Wealth at bpiwealth@bpi.com.ph.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. Global equities were flat in November, concealing sharp intra-month volatility. A tech-led sell-off, driven by elevated valuations and intensifying competition in the semiconductor industry, gave way to a thinly traded US holiday rebound that lifted markets at the end of the month. Policy rates remained predominately steady as the European Central Bank and Bank of England left interest rates unchanged. However, easing UK inflation stoked expectations of a December cut, while Chancellor Rachel Reeves' supportive Autumn Budget buoyed sterling and compressed gilt yields. Despite firm US core inflation, markets priced in a higher probability of a rate cut by the US Federal Reserve amid signs of a softening labor market. Japan's economy contracted at a 1.8% annualized pace in the third quarter, pressuring the Japanese yen, while China's economy was jolted by the slowest growth in industrial output and retail sales in over a year, fueling speculation of further fiscal stimulus. Gold hovered near record highs above $4,000/oz, while Bitcoin slid more than 25% from its peak.

The MSCI World Health Care NET returned 8.1% over the period. Within the index, all of the sectors rose over the month. Biopharma large cap and biopharma mid cap were the top performing sectors, while health care services and medical technology were the bottom performing sectors over the month.

Fund Performance. The fund returned 9.85% in November, outperforming the benchmark by 182 basis points.

Fund Strategy. Biopharma remains a fertile hunting ground for innovation, with important new drugs recently developed in major therapeutic areas such as obesity, cancer, and inflammation. The GLP-1 class continues its rapid expansion in diabetes and obesity and may also prove relevant for treating inflammatory conditions and neurological disorders. Additionally, better GLP-1 drugs – offering improved tolerability, less frequent dosing, and oral delivery – are rapidly advancing. Genetic medicine is beginning to fulfill its potential beyond rare diseases, despite encountering some setbacks. Recent clarity on U.S. pharmaceutical tariffs, including the possibility of delaying/avoiding tariffs with manufacturing commitments and modest price concessions, as demonstrated by the recent US-Pfizer deal, should ease policy concerns for the biopharma sector.

Medical technology innovation has never been stronger due to advancements in technology development, engineering capabilities, and integrated informatics. Areas of most interest now include interventional cardiology, robotics, and a reacceleration in the bioproduction cycle. However, the fund manager remains disciplined around valuation and selective in exposures.

Health care services companies are well-positioned to help solve the challenge of rising health care costs and to benefit from the transition from a fee-for-service to a fee-for-value care system. There is an attractive risk-reward in certain Medicare Advantage companies. Providers should benefit from persistently high utilization, particularly in lower cost-of-care settings. Broadly, this makes the fund favor companies focused on improving patient outcomes while reining in costs as well as scaled players with rising market share.

At the end of the period, the fund's largest exposures were biopharma large cap and medical technology and was least exposed to biopharma small cap and health care services. From a regional perspective, the largest exposures were North America and Developed EU & Middle East ex UK and were least exposed to Emerging Markets. There was no exposure to Developed Asia Pacific ex Japan.

LIST OF PROSPECTIVE INVESTMENTS

The following are among the Fund's approved investment outlets, wherein the Trustee intends to invest depending on strategy, availability, or other market-driven circumstances:

(a) Primarily in a single collective investment scheme ("CIS") whose investment objective is to provide investment results in excess of the return of the MSCI World Health Care Index; provided further that such CIS is approved or registered and supervised by a regulatory authority that is a member of the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) and managed by reputable fund manager/s; provided further that the investment in the said collective investment scheme should at least be ninety percent (90%) of the total assets of the Fund. The Target Fund must be recognized as a collective investment scheme in its home jurisdiction by a regulatory authority or any regulatory authority acceptable to the BSP to supervise this CIS;
