OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Review. In March 2025, global bond markets exhibited mixed performances amid heightened economic and policy uncertainty. US Treasury yields declined, with the 2-year and 10-year yields ending the month at 3.88% and 4.21%, respectively, down from 4.24% and 4.57% at the start of the year. This decline in yields resulted in positive performance for US bonds. The Federal Reserve's decision to keep interest rates unchanged, despite rising inflation expectations, contributed to this trend. In contrast, European bond markets faced challenges due to rising yields, driven by Germany's significant infrastructure and defense spending bill. The European Central Bank's decision to cut interest rates provided some support, but concerns over higher borrowing costs and geopolitical tensions persisted. Corporate bonds likewise saw challenges, with both investment-grade and high-yield bonds experiencing declines due to rising credit spreads and investor risk aversion. Emerging market bonds showed resilience, supported by strong performance in Chinese and Indian debt markets. Overall, global bonds offered a degree of counterbalance to the volatility seen in equity markets during the month.

Fund Performance. The Fund returned 0.31% for the month, underperforming the benchmark by 5 basis points.

Fund Strategy. The Fund will maintain its duration of less than one. Expectations of interest rates staying elevated may help maintain current portfolio yield.
